

Traveling tours

In our group are three, Ósk, Sigfinnur and Svava.

In this class we have been doing many things, such as picking a company idea and start to build it up like a real company, and we have been doing that all the semester. We went to a company that was built just like we are doing, just became reality from a small idea that they had. This class shows you how the real life is.

Our group has been working with the idea of traveling tours in the winter. It would be very expensive because these tours would be for a group of maximum 8 people, so the group would be rather close.

This would be a few days trip and it would be decided by the costumers that are going in the trip but it isn't 100% sure that we could go where the tourist would want to go because of the weather but then we would go another way in a similar trip.

The tourist would be traveling on a big Ford Econoline, changed for tours like this, rocky mountains, bad roads and much snow. These trips would be very fun, and we definitely recommend it.
